The framers of the McKinley law thought that if the new tin plate industry reached a production of about 80,000,000 pounds a year within years from the passage of the law, it would be doing pretty well and would warrant the continuance of the tin plate duty. Our tin mills had already reached that rate of production in the last quarter of 1899.

years after the new tariff's enactment.

When Secretary Herbert of the Navy was a youngster, he was often spoken of as "that big-headed little boy."

A son of ex-Governor Oglesby of Illinois has been appointed a naval cadet. This was one of President Harrison's last acts.

The executive duties of First Vice-President Frank Thomson, of the Pennsylvania road, have been increased so as to include some that have heretofore been performed by President Roberts.

Judge Gresham, like many other men in public life, has a wife who attends to a great deal of his correspondence for him. Mrs. Gresham is fond of Washington, but likes it best when it is most deserted.

Chauncey M. Depew advises young men to become familiar with political affairs. Join a party, go to caucuses and throw their influence on the side of honesty and decency. It is sound advice, and if the young men of the country should follow it with enthusiasm and energy there would be fewer Legislators like the one at Frankfort.

The overthrow of Harrison shows how it is possible for a free people, teeming with prosperity, the envy of the world, and with even higher conditions ahead, to rise in their wantonness and overturn it all. We read in verse of the drunkenness which comes from wine, or passion, or pride. It was never before seen in an electoral campaign.

R. C. Keren, member of the Republican National Committee from Missouri, gives the committee some thoroughly good advice when he says that its members should find out at once the condition of affairs and the state of feeling in the party throughout the country. He says truly that the next four years should be filled with good, hard work, and should not be devoted to "sitting around and telling stories." Constant, energetic work is the order of the day, and the sure realization by the people of the fact that Republican policies are the right ones for the Nation will bring victory again.

Senator Palmer of Illinois is a Democrat and an old soldier himself and he spoke to the point on the pension question when he said that he did not think any political party would ever refuse to make proper appropriations for pensions. "It has been a race," he said, "between political parties for many years as to which should be most earnest in their liberality to the old soldiers, and he apprehended that the race would continue as long as the old fellows amounted to so much as they do at the polls." General Palmer might have mentioned, too, that the old soldiers have sons and that, besides, there are a great many people who believe that soldiers who fought for the Union in our civil war deserve as much as those who fought for it in Indian or foreign wars—no more or no less.

THE PROPHETS OF THE FUTURE.

Enough, enough, to men of lore! Your wisdom we salute; But we can't quite have it all. Our lives are with "No fruit."

You tell the havoc of the fruit That kills each tender shoot, And how the locusts' ravages are lost A year's supply of fruit.

Now, sapient souls, for once decide! For let one day be lost! Don't let your youthful thoughts insist Forever "There's no fruit!"

A tender core we can endure, Perhaps a pinching blow, But bless the doctor who would cure The prophet of "No fruit!"

We can forgive a stubborn mule, A dead-end or a dead-end, But heaven save us from the fool Who always cries "No fruit!"

We'll bear the man who peddles evil, The chaps who are in vogue; But, Jove, invent a toll to pay The prophet of "No fruit!"

Captain John Small places us under renewed obligations for New York papers.

THORP BROWNING, who has been ill with typho-malarial fever at the residence of his father, Dr. Browning, of Third street, is somewhat better today. Mr. Browning is convalescent, as is G. M. Browning of Cincinnati.

MAJOR FRANK HARRISON of Carrollton wants to be Recorder of Deeds for the District of Columbia; and if President Cleveland gives a good officer and will take the advice of one who has known Mr. Harrison long and well, he will commission him without delay.

A Remarkable and Fitting Tribute to America's Four Hundredth Anniversary.

FROM THE HANDS OF SKILLED SILVERSMITHS.

The popularity of Souvenir Spoons and the appropriateness of the subject places this spoon foremost among the souvenirs of this anniversary year. It is the purest grade sterling silver, upon a nickel silver base, and every one of our readers should have more for their personal use and for gifts to friends. It is a work of art and every lover of handsome silverware and collector of spoons should have one. It is a particularly elegant gift, birthday present or souvenir of a visit.

A PAIR of drunken bullies got on the C. and O. train here Saturday night, ticked for Huntington. JOHN L. SULLIVAN the slacker drew a motley audience to the Open House Saturday night. As might have been expected, a great majority of those who gave up their dollar were returned to the streets, some kicking themselves. The play and performers were mediocre and Sullivan's part was devoted to a solo in the nature of a musical extravaganza. However, as the big attraction was the drawing and the slacker drew the slacker, the result must have been gratifying to his managers.

Y. M. C. A.

Series of Meetings Under the Auspices of the Local Organization.

There has been a great deal of interest and activity in the Y. M. C. A. since the past two days. Messrs. Rosecrance of Louisville, State Secretary; Boucher of Covington, and H. H. H. of Lexington, and H. H. H. of Lexington, State Secretary of the Covington Y. M. C. A., have been in the city, delivering a series of instructive and interesting lectures on the progress of the Y. M. C. A. in the Association rooms in the Cox building for the purpose of instructing the Y. M. C. A. members of this city as to the work and aims in view. About seventy-five were present.

Another meeting was held in the M. E. Church, Sunday afternoon, to which the men only were invited. The three gentlemen mentioned above made very interesting addresses to a fair sized audience.

A Union Service was held at the First Baptist Church, Sunday evening, at which all of the churches in the city joined except the Third Street M. E. Church, where a protracted meeting is in progress. Every nook and corner of the edifice was filled and the large audience was delightedly entertained. The music was one of the pleasing features.

The interest manifested in the preliminary movements, looking to the permanent establishment of an organization here, should not be allowed to flag in the least. It is something that is calculated to be of invaluable benefit to the young men—affording pleasure and mental and physical advancement as well as moral improvement.

A SUNDAY MORNING BLAZE.

The Carriage Manufactory of Fred Deltrich Badly Damaged by Fire.

Our citizens were suddenly aroused from their slumbers about 7 o'clock Sunday morning by the exciting alarm of fire.

The scene of the conflagration was Fred Deltrich's carriage manufactory, located at the corner of Cherry alley and Second street, between Market and Limestone streets.

The fire first gained considerable headway before it was discovered, the flames having burst from several of the second story windows, and when the company arrived on the scene the blaze had assumed an alarming aspect.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it was probably the work of incendiaries. The flames first issued from the second-story windows in the Southeastern corner of the building, where were stored the paints and oils, thus making its origin from spontaneous combustion possible. Mr. Deltrich, however, went through it and says there was no fire in any of the stores or anywhere about the building; therefore it is not probable that its origin is due to carelessness.

On account of the location of the building and its height, it was a very difficult task to fight. The firemen experienced considerable trouble in getting the water to the top of the building, as the fire was not long, however, after the streams of water were turned into the building until the fire was fairly well under control and all fear of its spreading allayed.

The building is a three-story brick and nothing much remains save the walls, the wood work of the interior and the articles and materials of manufacture being consumed or damaged to such an extent that they are almost worthless.

On the lower floor, were saved, while several of various kinds, which were in the second story, including C. H. Robert, McAlister and other material, were burned.

The loss on the contents of the building is estimated at about $40,000. The property insured in the Oakland Home of California for $50,000 New Jersey for $10,000 and United States for $10,000.

The damage on the building, which is owned by the Bierbrocker firm, is estimated at $20,000. The Oakland Home of California for $15,000 and in the Western Union for $15,000.

THE Bonanza picked up two brothers named Osborn with two young ladies in a skiff in the river below Carrollton, who were one of the late residents, corner Third and Main streets, where they were seeking a matrimonial partner. They were taken to Cincinnati, married and returned to Carrollton, where they are now residing.

THE Tenthredinians. One of our oldest physicians had a rare experience yesterday. He attended at the birth of a twentieth child and the fifteenth at which he was present. The lady is a resident of Lexington and fourteen boys, the one born yesterday being a boy weighing 16 lbs., and the physician says that in his long experience it was the largest child he ever saw.

THE Late Jackson Finch. The remains of Anderson Finch arrived from Thompkinsville, Ga., on Saturday night. His death was somewhat sudden, he having been apparently in perfect health the day previous. He was seized with a coughing spell about the middle of the afternoon, which, in his infirm condition, was more than he could stand, and death came at 7 o'clock the following morning.

THE funeral will close this afternoon at 3 o'clock from his late residence, corner Third and Main streets, services by the Rev. E. B. Calk, Pastor of the Christian Church. Interment in Maysville Cemetery.

Leisure at Lexington.

At Lexington Mrs. R. Robert Blaine entertained last evening a large number of her mother, Mrs. Frank S. Owens of this city, who has been her guest for the past week. Covers were laid for 150 persons. Mrs. Blaine's friends, who were seated at four lovely tables, each of which reflected from the soft light of the gasolene lamps, were in harmony with its floral decoration, hand-painted name card, and exquisitely embroidered centerpiece. The menu was elaborate and served in many delicate and beautiful courses, each course being made to harmonize with the colors of the table, for which it was intended, carrying out the artistic taste with which the genial hostess is so gifted.

Progressive Enthusiasm.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Houser entertained with a progressive euchre party at their residence, 217 Forest avenue, on Friday evening, March 13th. The party was given in honor of the friends and the costumes worn by the ladies were exquisite. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hill, Mrs. Winn, L. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Houser, Miss Ida Mae Alexander, Miss Newell, Katherine Burrows, Margaret Sulzer, Harriet Rose, Mary H. Houser, Mrs. H. H. Houser, Carlisle of Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, and Messrs. Paul McDonald, Horace Outten, James Brown, Will Smith, Lee Haurick, John C. Rains, George Burrows, and Robert Toop of Cincinnati. The fortunate prize winners were Miss Ida Mae Alexander and Robert Toop.

Lexington Saloon War.

The first blood in the fight between the upper and lower boards of the City Council on the saloon license question was won by the Aldermen at Lexington. Judge Parker decided the Glasgow case against the City Council, by denying Glasgow's mandamus and dismissing his petition. The Board of Aldermen returned the case to the City Council, and the City Council is now in a position to grant the license if they keep open on Sunday. Glasgow tried to compel the city to grant him license, but the result was a decision in favor of omitting the Sunday-closing clause from the bond, but the Aldermen have strenuously insisted on it, and the result is no license can be taken out by saloon-keepers. All the saloons in town have, therefore, run without license since March 1st.

Caught in the Act.

Bob Warner, colored, was arrested last night by Captain J. H. H. of the City Council for breaking into the freight depot. Thieves have caused great annoyance around the depot and the City Council has been expected in other instances.

Last night, shortly after dark, Warner was seen to enter a freight car and to take out a box of clothing. It is now known that he was discovered by one of the employees. Since that he has been discovered by the police and notified and the culprit tracked, by a circuitous route, to his home on the Lexington side, where he was captured.

The stolen property amounted to two coats of white, a pair of pants, a pair of shoes, and some groceries. It was recovered. Warner will have a hearing before Mayor Poore tomorrow morning, and will be held in the penitentiary.

The steamer Wells City, which grounded off Seabright, will be saved.

Sadie Savage, who disappeared from Noank, Ct., has been located at Bellevue hospital, where she is registered as Ida Black.

THE BIG FIRE.

Friday's Loss Nearly Five Million Dollars.

Dense Clouds of Spray, Steam and Smoke

Rise From the Scen of the Blackened Ruins of the Fire

Perished in the Terrible Conflagration—Fatal Box No. 55.

Boston, March 13.—A strange coincidence in connection with the conflagration of Friday is that the three great fires in Boston's history—those of 1874, 1888 and 1895—were all rung from the same box.

The estimate of loss—$4,500,000—remains unchanged. Of this a little over $1,000,000 is on buildings, and the remainder on stocks.

Five persons are believed to have perished, three are known to have met death, while Harry Turner, aged 18, and Lewis Burke, aged 19, employees of the Jacquith Rubber Co., are missing.

They were at work on the fifth floor of the building, and their bodies are doubtless in the ruins.

Over a score are badly injured and more deaths are certain to result.

It is eight long there were little knots of sight-seers grouped at intervals all along the circuit of the ruins.

The "boom boom" of the engines, as they kept hammering away, never talk with effect. The inside of the burned building was lit up with yellow flames, dark through the mist of smoke and steam.

Each side of the street was a scene of the broken walls loomed up, black and terrible. Here and there was only a corner standing, two or three feet of side wall and a foot or two left towering up by some strange force of the fire.

Every street in the district of the fire district is covered with a heap of the wildest mass of destruction. The debris of walls that had fallen all over the street covered it with jagged heaps of brick.

There were ridged, burnt and torn pieces of sheet-iron in quantities strewn about. There were masses of fallen wires it made one shiver to touch. All night, after the fire had been well under control, there was little effort made to come to close quarters or to explore the ruins for bodies.

It was too dangerous and too unceremonious in the day.

Also the work of the department through the long night watches was almost wholly confined to pouring on the fire from a distance.
